Jeddah 10 JUL 2024

The General Secretariat of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation presents its compliments to all Member States, Observer States, and the relevant OIC institutions and organs and, with reference to its cooperation and coordination with cultural institutions and bodies in Member States, within the framework of promoting and supporting the presence of the Arabic language (the language of the Qur'an) in implementation of Ministerial Resolution No. 13/49-C, issued by the Council of Foreign Ministers of Member States 2023, Nouakchott, Islamic Republic of Mauritania, wishes to report that the International Council for the Arabic Language, in cooperation with the General Secretariat, will organize the Tenth International Conference on the Arabic Language under the patronage of His Highness Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum, Vice President and Prime Minister of the UAE and Governor of Dubai, for three days (7 - 9 Rabi' al-Akhir 1446 H, corresponding to 10-12 October 2024) in Dubai - United Arab Emirates, in which the Mohammed bin Rashid Award for the Arabic Language, the largest award in the history of the Arabic language, will be launched

The conference comes within the framework of various initiatives to serve the Arabic language (the language of the Qur'an) and advance its status in order to preserve Islamic identity and enhance its cultural presence in different civilizations and in regional and international forums.

Member states and other countries - to which the Arabic language has made distinct contributions - regional and international organizations, civil society institutions and international universities concerned with the Arabic language will be invited to the conference. Hundreds of scientific and field research and studies related to the Arabic language will also be published in all specializations and professions. Furthermore, scientific seminars will be held.

It is possible to participate in the exhibition accompanying the conference by communicating directly with the organizing committee (contact information attached) to reserve an exhibition space for the country, institution or body wishing to participate. It is also possible to participate in research papers and accompanying intellectual and cultural seminars.

The International Council for the Arabic Language is an independent international organization for Arab and international institutions related to the Arabic language, treated as an international organization operating within the framework of the United Nations - accredited among the international partner organizations in UNESCO.

The International Conference on the Arabic Language, which is held annually, is a peer-reviewed international scientific, educational, cultural and intellectual conference, in which ministries, universities, scientific and educational institutions, linguistic academies, departments of the Arabic language for native and non-native speakers, departments of languages and translation, peer-reviewed scientific journals and publishers, and centers of linguistic studies and research, also participate. Officials and members of Shura Councils and parliaments, scholars, researchers, specialists and experts, promoters of initiatives and projects, relevant governmental and civil organizations, as well as institutions specialized in the fields of the Arabic language and its various applications, will also participate.

The conference is also distinguished by the diversity and comprehensiveness of its topics, as it discusses research, scientific studies, and working papers in the various fields of the Arabic language and literature. It introduces the efforts of ministries, organizations, and governmental and private institutions concerned with Arabic language issues. It also discusses linguistic policies and systems and displays innovations, technologies, and electronic linguistic applications.

The conference also works to spread the Arabic language, its use, and its work in all professions and specializations, and publishes thousands of studies, research, and applications to support scientific research in governmental and private scientific and educational institutions.

The conference contributes to enhancing integration, solidarity, cooperation and exchange of experiences, at the level of national, Arab and international societies and governmental and civil institutions, and brings together thousands of scientists, researchers and officials from various countries of the world.

To register, participate in a working paper, or reserve a stand in the accompanying exhibition, please communicate directly with the conference organizing committee via the conference's website through the following link: www.alarabiahconferences.org or via the WhatsApp application on the following mobile phone number: (+971567181080).

In light of the above, the General Secretariat of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation looks forward active participation in this important event.
